

Kristine L. Svinicki

Sworn In: 3/28/08

Term Ends: 6/30/12

The Honorable Kristine L. Svinicki was sworn in as a Commissioner of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) on March 28, 2008.

Ms. Svinicki has a distinguished career as a nuclear engineer and policy advisor, working since 2005 as a professional staff member on the Senate Armed Services Committee for the Committee's former Chairman, Sen. John Warner, R-Va., and ranking Republican, Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz. As a professional staff member of the Committee, she worked on defense science and technology programs, and atomic energy defense activities of the U.S. Department of Energy, including nuclear weapons, nuclear security and environmental management programs.

Ms. Svinicki came to Capitol Hill in 1997, serving until 2004 as a senior policy advisor to Sen. Larry Craig, R-Idaho. In that capacity she was involved in the development of legislation and legislative strategies on energy, environmental and technology issues in the areas of telecommunications, energy research and development and nuclear waste management.

From 1990 to 1997, Ms. Svinicki worked as a nuclear engineer in the Energy Department's Office of Nuclear Energy, Science and Technology, Office of Civilian Radioactive Waste Management, and the Idaho Operations Office. Before that she was an energy engineer for the Wisconsin Public Service Commission.

Ms. Svinicki earned a bachelor's degree in nuclear engineering from the University of Michigan in 1988. She is a member of the American Nuclear Society and served two terms on the ANS Special Committee on Nuclear non-Proliferation. She has served as a member of the Center for Strategic and International Studies' Task Force on Global Nuclear Materials Management, and as an Expert Advisory Panel Member to the NRC on assessing the future of regulatory research needs. She was selected as a Stennis Congressional Fellow of the 108th Congress (2003-2004).

Ms. Svinicki is a resident of Falls Church, Va.
